The Pied Piper of Hamelin

It is the year 1284 in Hamelin, Germany. The town is full of horrible rats. They are everywhere – in the streets, in the shops, even in the houses! One day, a strange man appears in the town. He is dressed in clothes of many colours and he is carrying a pipe. People call him the Pied Piper. He says he can make the rats go away and asks for some money.

The Mayor agrees to pay him and the Pied Piper begins to play on his pipe. As if by magic, all the rats run after the Pied Piper. They follow him all the way to the river and then they all fall in!
